In the First District James C. gress, receiving 47,225 votes. His opponent, Harold B. Emery of Limington, had 20,851. In these totals 13 precincts were lacking. Republican Congressional candidates in the Second and Third Districts, Clyde H. Smith of Skowhegan and Ralph O. Brewster of Dexter, were also returned to office.

Oxford County elected all Republican officials with one exception. Merle Burgess of Rumford was elected one of the two representatives of that district, receiving nearly 200 more than his nearest rival. Sheriff Fernando F. The schools of Bethel, Gilead, Greenwood, Upton and Newry opened last week with large enrollments.

The Bethel village schools have a total enrollment of 248 pupilssmall increase in attendance in each grade. The new bus which veys the Albany pupils and those from the Irish neighborhood in Greenwood. This fine school bus, Oliver (R) of South Portland was marked "State of Maine Unorganre-elected Representative to Con- ized Territory," is driven by John Deegan of Greenwood.

> The rural schools in Bethel and those in the other towns have an increased attendance over last year in almost every case.

All the schools have opened with a fine cooperative spirit on the part of parents, teachers and pupils, and conditions indicate a successful school year.

CHASES VISIT OLD COLONIAL HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Chase of AT GOULD ACADEMY Bryant Pond attended the annual reunion of the Faulkner Family Association at North Andover, Mass., Saturday. This is the sixth annual meeting of the association, of which Mr. Chase has been president the past year. Mr. Chase's 13, with a record registration in mother was a member of the both total number of students and Faulkner family and she was also boarding pupils enrolled. Both a direct descendant of Sir Joshua dormitories are filled to capacity Wedgewood of china fame.

After the picnic lunch and meeting at the rooms of the Historical Society, the members of the family visited the home of Edmond Faulkner, built by him after the burning of his earlier home and killing of his cattle by the Indians on April 19, 1676. The exact date of construction is not known but it was before Edmond Faulkner's death in 1686-7. This house is one of the oldest Colonial homesteads in America, of which the Andover town records state: "There is an ancient house on one of the early Faulkner homesteads at North Andover (Mass.) which is said to be more than 250 years old. . . It is of quaint construction and has been apparently but little changed from its original style. Discovery: It was a happy day for Ruth Hilda Somer, 16-year-old Austrian girl, when she was selected from steerage passengers to play a ship's concert on the Normandie a few weeks ago. With her mother, the young girl was fleeing Austria. The concert, she believed, was her last opportunity for a long time to follow her career as a concert planist.

Poverty and the struggle for existence lay ahead. Then, Eddie Cantor, who was acting as master of ceremonies on the concert, heard her. Like many other unknowns he has sponsored, Cantor took her under his wing. Now she is rehearsing in New York for her radio debut and a concert tour.

Renamed: It is almost traditional that people change their names when they get into the entertainment business. Usually it's for the sake of euphony or that their real name is hard to remember. Pretty Joan Kay, the High School age daughhers from Phyllis to Joan. Now, in her new daily NBC role, she has her right name back again—the's Phyllis Gilman. Such is the way of Athletic Tenor: Donald Novis, Fibber McGee's new singing star, is one tenor who is also a real athlete. Novis, who has won fame on the air, the stage and the screen, was a star in football, basketball and swimming both at Pasadena High School and Whittier College. He is the newest member of the Fibber McGee company, heard every Tuesday night over the NBC-Red network.

French Star: Jean Sablon, handsome French troubadour, has been signed for the new Hollywood Hotel program on CBS. Paris born, Sablon made an enviable name in European theatres, clubs and music halls before coming to this country. His winning manner and unusual style of singing both English and French songs, has won him a great American following. He will be teamed with Frances Langford on the redesigned show.

Steelmakers: One of radio's most unusual shows, the "Musical Steelmakers," returns to the air via Mutual networks Sunday night. Talent for the popular program is composed entirely of the sponsor's employees and their families.

Bob Hope, comedy star who will head a new variety show from the west coast, come the end of Jean Sablon the month, is still in a huddle with his program producers on the supporting talent. Hollywood reports are that an announcement of the allstar lineup should be forthcoming within a week.

Betty Lou, Tommy Riggs' little girl who is a creation of his voice only, is a radio star in her own name and she and Riggs will headline a new show starting next month. But unlike Edgar Dergen's Charlie McCarthy, insurance companies refuse her as a risk. They say she's too ethereal. So Riggs has to go along just praying that he doesn't get a cold or a frog in his throat.

Sweet and Swing: The Mid-West is getting a chance to take its choice of sweet or swing music these days with Benny Goodman and Horace Heidt, leading exponents of opposite schools, playing theatre dates in write to radio stars for bictures, but few of them marry the girl. Yet that's exactly what Sidney Fisher of Louisville, Kentucky, is going to do. He fell in love with the lovely soprano voice of Vicki Chase, featured soloist on "Vocal Varieties" over NBC, and wrote to her for her picture. She sent it. When he saw it, he knew he was right. Correspondence began and he finally made a trip to Cincinnati to see the broadcast and meet her. They decided it was love, so the date is set for sometime in September.

The third annual series of the sparkling musical variety program, "Saturday Night Serenade—Your Pet Program," again featuring Mary Eastman, petite lyric soprano; Bill Perry, tenor; Gustav Haenschen's orchestra and a choir of mixed voices, begins over a nation-wide CBS network on Saturday, October 1 (9:30 p. m. EST). Miss Eastman, who has recently completed a successful summer concert series, is a native of Kansas City who studied in Chicago and New York, primarily for a career as a planist before she was discovered as a singing find.

If you had a chance to meet Fibber McGee, what question would you ask him? Just in order to find out what readers would like to know about stars, LISTEN TO THIS will award $5 for the best question submitted and $1 for the five next best on: "What I would ask Fibber McGee if I met him." Send your questions to Tom Fizdale, Listen To This, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, together with the name of your newspaper. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, September 15. The winning question and Fibber's own answer will be printed in this column two weeks later.

Horace Heidt, leader of the Brigadiers heard via NBC, has the only band in the country organized on the lines of a regular business organization. His big personnel, which includes more than thirty people, comprises a complete stage show with dancers and specialty numbers in addition to the band members. With Heidt as director, the organization is set-up in the same manner as a business organization with ten main departments.

Beits Winkler, who has been heard this summer opposite motion pleture star Henry Hunter in the "Attorney at Law" series, will be back on the air as the star of her own show, "Girl Alone," come the last week in September. The preity leading lady, who has proven her versatility as a top-flight actress, will resume the role of the newspaper girl over the NBC-Red network, Monday through Friday, starting Sept. 26, for a new sponsor.

"Those Happy Gilmans" are another addition to the better daily dramatic serials on NBC. After making a decided hit in recorded presentation, this story of a normal, harder American family was given a network spot. Bill Bouchey, Edith Adams, John Hench, Cornelius Peeples and Joan Kay are the featured players of the show heard Monday through Friday. Betty Winkler

With Bob Hope, stage and screen comedian, rounding up talent for his new variety show, which takes the air via NBC-Red, September 27, It looks as though radio fans are going to have another big night to look forward to on Tuesdays, Skinnay Ennis, former Hal Kemp bandsman, now a maestro in his own right, is being mentioned as vocalist and music director.

BETHEL NEEDS More and Better Sidewalks-winter and summer Night Watchman-All the Year Enforced Traffic Rules

FACTS @ OPINIONS

The results of Monday's state election seem to indicate approval of the Barrows administration and confirm the owing against the New ; Ikal ohown in other states' priprimaries With only one Democrat nurviving the emplaught in this County the feeling is unmistakable -- for the looers had several candidates who deserved better support.

Evidently an outstanding leader in the contests was Harvey Powers. Excey town in the eastern registry district gave him support greater than the Governor received. It is encouraging to know that voters in both parties appreciate the work of this official.

Here is a partial list of some of the outstanding debts owed the I'msted States:

Ite-123410011	$440,570,360
ter tuntorakla	163,658,603
Franco	4,121,120,602
Poland	252,159,819
Italy	2,010,007,055
Lithuania	7,429,514
Latvia	8,300,892
Yugorlavia	61,663,516
Great Britain	5,063,719,060
	July 1 12 14 15 15 15

$12,440,035,326

Broides this, Germany owes us a great deal Finland and Hungary are our only good customers as they have been paying their debt regularly if all the money owed us reald be collected, it would help on our national debt and put the United States back on a sound busincan banin

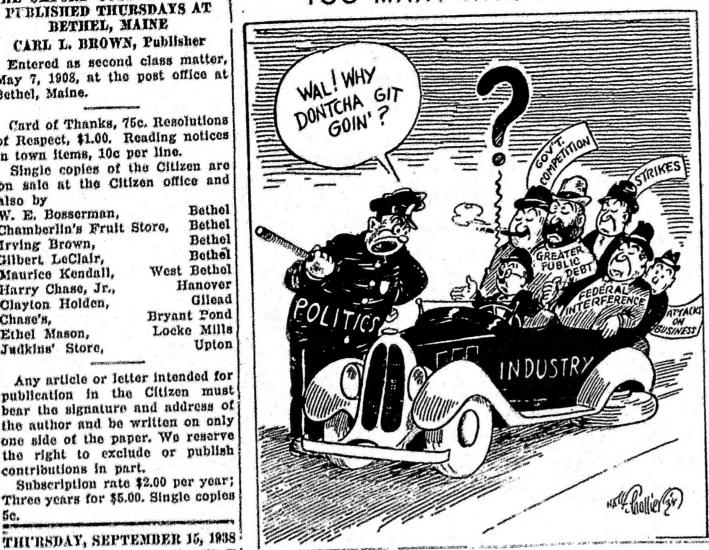

We understand, from one who should know, that the reseration of "heer partors" in town was upheld by most of the business men in the hope of more business resulting In our opinion this is a mistaken hope, pour local trade is a result of other causes The margin of victory for the drys, however, is tess than that of 1926.

The SNAPSHOT GUILDO HOBBY PICTURES

Any child hobby is full of picture chances. Adult hobbies, too. Picture them as they progress, step by step.

the child's progress. A series of ture above, a light yellow K-1 filter these pictures has delightful "storytelling" quality, and will increase darken the blue water and sky and in memory value as time passes.

Almost any hobby can be pictured. If your young daughter paints or draws, snap a progressive series of her at her sketch pad or easel. It the boy builds model planes, snap a series of him busy in his workshop fitting parts of the new model. Take pictures that show the progress of the Job, from the first stick to the completed plane - and its trial night!

First attempts at golf . . . first lessons in tonnis or swimming. . . . any outdoor sport is full of these picture or daughter's hobby and begin takchances. Picture each stage, and you lug them now, for tomorrow there will treasure these snapshots later Sunburn Cause of Skin Cancor Animals as well as human beings may develop skin cancer from excessive sunburn, notes a writer in Collier's Weekly. Australia is especially noted for such cases among its sheep whose exposure to the sun on the plains sometimes results in cancer of the tender inside akin of their cars.

The Resourceful Man

"You can't allus believe a man who brags 'bout bein' resourceful." sald Uncle Eben. "I know one dat talks in dat style because a man broke ap eight panels of fence and fed il into de stove to save de trouble of sawin' wood."

YF YOU have a son or daughter who | tures, to get just the effect you is a budding hobbylst, picture want. For example, in taking the picwas used on the camera lens, to make the white clothing and beat sail "stand out." Fast film was used, and reflections from the water made a short exposure possible-1/50 second at f.11. The picture shows careful thought, and proves that the rule "think before you shoot" is worth observing-whether you are taking hobby snapshots or some other kind.

Hobbies grow and expand, and they should be represented in your picture-history of the family. Take plenty of pictures, showing each new phase and development of your son's will be new stages to picture, while today's opportunities will be past.

Old Wedding Customs The throwing of rice and shoes has always been done in significance of fertility and good luck, and dene frequently just because it a custom, without the narticiints quite knowing why, except at it seems fun. Even the knots ribbon to which we are accusmed in the bridal bouquet, usually a ribbon shower, are part of the dief that lovers' knots have a speal meaning and must appear at me time or in some way.

Can Toss Away a Leg The common centipede when hotsued can toss away one of its gs to detain or distract the , and later grow a new onc.

Origin of the Lyceum

The American lyceum movement started in Connecticut about 1826, when Josiah Holbrook announced himself prepared to offer lectures on history, art, science and public questions, to residents of his own state and the melebinering state of Massachusetta, Pag le attending his lectures were later organized into lyceum groups and Heliands conceived the movement as one for national education.

The college called this a Sabbatical—a year's well deserved holiday with pay. John's wife, Jerry, halled it as a belated honeymoon. John himself decided that it was tables months. decided that it was twelve months of enforced idleness that was cor-tain to drive him insane. He and Jerry were to sail for Europe that evening, and that thought didn't cheer him up either. Why did people always insist upon scurrying with us tonight. He's spoken to from one place to another!

John slowed his steps and finally stopped. He was in front of the By stopped. He was in front of the little movie theatre frequented by the students, and he was bored. Stepping up to the box-office, the professor bought a licket — but he was destined never to use it. For just as he reached the ticket-taker the doors of the theatre suddenly swung out, and a flood of gasping and panic-stricken patrons poured out and swept on into the street. Cries of bewilderment and disgust filled the lobby as John watched in amazement.

"Not half as many times as he's spoken to me about you," Ferguson told him with a smile. "He thinks you're the greatest authority on law in the country."

"And I think he's the best student I ever had," replied John frankly, "I predict a brilliant future for him in law."

"That rates a drink," said Ferguson.

"I rarely indulge in the afternoon."

"But your meeting — "

Can't Take a Joke
An hour later, John was reading the sign tacked to the door of a groom in the Criminal Courts Building. It read: GOVERNOIC'S CIVIC COMMITTEE—NO ADMITTANCE, John's brother-in-law, Tom Ross, managing editor of the Daily Press, was thing when he suggested that John tell the stench bomb story in an hour!

A short while later, a telephone rang in a small but equisite apartment, and it was answered by a slim, beautiful girl named Fra. 6 Ballou. After listening for a ment, she turned to the 6 ... guished-looking, gray-haired man who stood near:

"It's for you, dear," she sail. Eugene Ferguson picked up '18 receiver.

"Hello," he said, then recognized the voice of Moss Kitchell, a hench-man. "All right, so they'll get the books. But what'll they find in them? Did you ever hear of eras-Ferguson hung up and sauntered to the divan. "Well," he said, "the little professor's beginning to feel his oats.

He's figured out something the Grand Jury and Berry both over-He stretched out on the sofa and reached for a cigar. Frankie picked up some matches, struck one, and held it for him.

"Maybe you've rigged yourself up a Frankenstein." "Not me. I've rigged myself up a Charlie McCarthy," Ferguson an-swered. "The trouble is, we don't cooperate enough. We've got to give him a lift."

A lift out, you mean?" Frankie sat on the edge of the divan. "You got somebody else up your sleeve?"

"Oh, no," replied Ferguson, puffing pleasurably on the cigar. "Lindsay's all right for me, He'd forget about these references. about those witnesses if we give him something else to do." Ho paused thoughtfully. "There's a lot of undesirable elements who ought to be cleaned out of the business. After all, Frankle, you can't have a garden with too many weeds." "What's the matter with Girard?" she wanted to know. "He's a pretty good gardner. Isn't he mowing them down fast enough?"

"Glrard's all right, A necessary evil. But he'll outlive his usefulness some day."
"Will I?" Frankie asked quietly.

Ferguson reached for her hand. You're the best man I've got." He was kissing her when the phone rang again. Frankie answercd it ruefully.
"Hello . . . Yes . . . Thanks." She hung up.

SHORT the ancient black dress she had spread SHORT across her knees.
The breadths of the STORY skirt, after a long united existence, had parted of one accord. Nothing remained but the bit of real lace in the neck to tell of past splendors.

"I can't ever wear it to church again," she murmured and her face wore an expression of despair. To Martha church was as much à habit as brushing her hair or washing her face. Yet she might just as well wish for an automobile as the price of a new gown.

The clock on the mantel struck five. Martha lifted her eyes and looked down the darkening road. Here and there on the hills a farmhouse dotted the landscape. Not far away rose the spire of the little church. Suddenly she uttered an exclamation. From out of the sky, as it seemed to her, with a noise like the discharge of fireworks, a huge airplane was wending its way downwards. After a series of circles, like a bird with enormous wings, it landed almost at her very

To say that Martha was startled would have been putting it mildly. Never in all the fifty-odd years of her existence had she experienced such a shock. The old silk dress slipped from her lap unnoticed as she rose hurriedly and crossed the kitchen to the door. By the time her trembling fingers had opened it the great bird-like thing lay quiet,

A curious looking figure had jumped lightly to the ground. Martha felt a momentary inclination to slam the door and shut out such an apparition, but innate hospitality won. The approaching figure had by this time removed a pair of goggles and unfastened the side flaps of his helmet, displaying a most reassuring bronzed young face and eyes blue as the sky from which he seemed to have come.

"I hope I haven't frightened you half to death," he said, a pleasant smile displaying the whitest

"I heard you coming. You wouldn't had to knock," Martha answered. She was recovering somewhat from her nervousness. "I never seen one of them things before, only in pictures. Goodness, I should think they'd scare the birds something awful."

The young man laughed heartily. "Well, I'm wondering as long as I'm here at your very door if you could give me a bite of supper and a bed for the night. A cup of tea and some bread and butter would be plenty. I'd like to tinker on the old plane a little before it really gets dark. But I wouldn't want to put you out any," he added.

Martha nodded. This was the biggest adventure she ever hoped to experience in her life.

"You get your tinkering done, It's getting dark fast," she answered. "And I'll get supper."

That was a memorable evening for Martha. The young aviator told her of adventures above the clouds in distant countries during the war that fairly exhausted the strength of her imagination. Everything else was forgotten. The old silk dress remained a crumpled heap on the floor. It might have remained there until the next morning had her company not gone to the window for one last look at his airplane. There was a sound of ripping as his shoe caught in the folds. He stooped quickly and picked it up.

"Oh," he exclaimed, "just look what I've done now."

"My goodness," said Martha, shamefacedly, "if my old dress hasn't been lying there ever since you came. I was seeing if I couldn't mend it once more for church." "Well I've finished it sure enough with that great foot of mine. I'm awfully sorry." In the bright sunshine of the fol lowing morning Martha said good-by to her unexpected guest. "Don't forget, Aunt Martha," he said, holding her hand for a moment, "I'm coming back in April on my honeymoon. I'll give you a good trip then above the clouds. Only you must teach my wife how to make sugared doughnuts." "Guess you don't get me off terra N. Y. cotta," ejaculated Martha, shaking! The Leslie Kendalls were here her head energetically. Gentlemen:

By Order of Legislaure from the Senate, the House concurring, "that under the direction of the Governor and Council, an anayisis of ation of the same be made to the inhabitants of the State of Maine, the cash position of the State of Maine be published in the daily and weekly newspapers of the State and that a full and complete explancosts thereof to be paid out of the General Fund of the State." In compliance with the above quoted order, I furnish you herewith the following statements and a full and complete explanation of the Although not asked for in the order, I believe a comparison with the previous year would be of great benefit, that a better understanding by the citizens of the State would be the result. cash position.

1, 1936 to June 30, 1937 and July 1, 1937 to June 30, 1938. Schedule B is an analysis of financial position as to the cash balance which shows the obligations for which cash has been received for definite and specific purposes, and which must be available when needed for the purposes for which it was intended. For example, cash in Treasury on June 30, 1937, amounted to $5,year ending June 30, 1938, not only balanced the budget but had a 334,970.99; cash against obligations as noted in Schedule B, $5,760,-694.20, or obligations over actual cash on hand of $365,933.21. On June 30, 1933, cash in Treasury amounted to $5,636,564.71; obligations as listed of $4,820,953.31, or in this case a balance over obligations of appropriations. The true picture, however, of the status of the State's financial position is reflected directly by the Sinking Fund Reserve Account. which is included in the balance sheet, and which by the law of the State is the Profit and Loss or Surplus Account after the close of the year's business. The balances of the appropriations are lapsed to the Contingent Fund at the close of the year, $300,000.00 being taken from this total and set up for the Contingent Fund for the coming The then remaining balance is transferred to the Sinking Fund seerve, and, as stated above represents the surplus of the State's business for the year. The State, after closing its books for the fiscal surplus of $356,744.17 which was transferred to the Sinking Fund Reserve account making a total of $722,379.16. This Sinking Fund $505,611.40, which includes taxes, licenses, etc. due against general Reserve which may be used for the retirement of State debt and obigations has totaled on June 30 of the past seven years as follows:
